Dear XXXXXX,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 29th June 2021 concerning Adolescent to Parent Violence.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

4. How many incidents in Q3 resulted in a prosecution in the following calendar years:

If it is not possible to provide the information requested due to the information exceeding the cost of compliance limits identified in Section 12, please provide advice and assistance, under the Section 16 obligations of the Act, as to how I can refine my request.

If any of this information is already in the public domain, please can you direct me to it, with page references and URLs if necessary.

Our response:

The information that you are requesting is not stored in a way which permits easy retrieval. When an incident involving family members occurs, although we do have a field in our systems where we can record the victim/accused relationship the population of this field is not mandatory and is often left blank. As a consequence, any data obtained using searches of this field would be inaccurate and could not be relied upon for the publication of results into the public domain.

In order to obtain the information you are requesting, we would need to open and review each occurrence related to Violence on our systems to ascertain whether this met your specific criteria of being adolescent to parent violence.

Given that we have recorded the following volumes of Violent Offences since 2018 :-

2018	14,084
2019	15,432
2020	15,563
2021	7,698 (to date)

under the circumstances I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek (even for 1 year) would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it.

Ordinarily under our section 16 duty to provide advice and assistance, we would advise you how to refine your request to a more manageable level. However, due to the difficulties outlined above, I cannot see how this can be achieved in this particular case.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12: Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

- (1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely,

Nick Penny
