Dear XXXXXX,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 1st August 2021 concerning lane-hogging driving offences.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

Just curious under a freedom of information act how many fines or prosecutions were handed out in 2019/2020 for people incorrectly lane-hogging?

Have noticed a lot recently, particularly on the M4, there is a total disregard to the law of remaining left while safe to do so unless overtaking and was wondering what is being done about this as it causes huge traffic issues and is dangerous.

There is little to no information publicly broadcast regarding these laws and it is apparent seeing the complete disregard by the public.

I understand it is difficult to argue someone is lane-hogging but I have seen many a case where it is blatantly obvious and dangerous, sitting in the middle lane of a 70 going 55/60 for example.

Our response:

The information that you are requesting is not stored in a way which permits easy retrieval. Middlelane hogging is not a technical crime class within our database(s), meaning that if a person had been stopped for middlelane hogging, they would technically be stopped and given an FPN (Fixed Penalty Notice) for 'careless driving'.

INVESTOR IN PEOPLE

Issues arise in the fact that the circumstances around an FPN is logged at the discretion of the officer, meaning that there are a significant number of FPN's completed by Officers with the correct circumstances not recorded, with the reason simply recorded as 'not stated'. In order to clarify as to how many fines or prosecutions had been handed out for this specific circumstance, we would have to manually interrogate some hundreds of 'not stated' occurrences in order to check whether it met your criteria or not.

Under the circumstances I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it.

Ordinarily under our section 16 duty to provide advice and assistance, we would advise you how to refine your request to a more manageable level. However, due to the difficulties outlined above, I cannot see how this can be achieved in this particular case.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12: Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

- (1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely,

Nick Penny
