Dear XXXXX,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 12th February 2022, concerning gas and electricity usage.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Following receipt of your request, research was conducted by the Facilities department at Wiltshire Police. Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

I would like to know how much has the organisation paid for gas and electricity in the past two financial years. I would like it to be broken down as follows:

1. The total amount of electricity used at your Police Force, measured in kWh.
2. The total amount of gas used at your Police Force, measured in cubic metres.
3. The total billed amount for electricity usage at your Police Force.
4. The total billed amount for gas usage at your Police Force.

If you need to break this down by each station in your area then please do not hesitate to do so.

I would like this data to be presented in an Excel or PDF spreadsheet with a new sheet for each year and a section on each point of information. I would like the data to be broken down by month to this month's latest.

Our response:

Section 1 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA) places two duties on public authorities. Unless exemptions apply, the first duty at s1(1)(a) is to confirm or deny whether the information specified in a request is held. The second duty at s1(1)(b) is to disclose information that has been confirmed as being held.

INVESTOR IN PEOPLE

Whilst I can confirm Wiltshire Police do hold the requested information, section 12(1) of the FOIA states:-

Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

The information you are requesting is not stored in a way which permits for easy retrieval. To provide the information in the format requested would require extracting the information manually, as it is held in a format for the purposes of invoice reconciliation as opposed to energy monitoring. This would be a vast task requiring the assistance of multiple individuals to get the information to the point of the requested format, and therefore it is exempt.

Under the circumstances I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it. Therefore the whole of the request should fall under the exemption of section 12 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000.

Please also note that if one part of the request engages a Section 12 response, the whole request will engage a Section 12 response. The reason being is due to the fact that locating, retrieving and extracting any further information would only add to the already exceeded time obligations.

Ordinarily under our Section 16 obligation to provide advice and assistance we would advise you of a way to refine your request to a more manageable level. Due to the difficulties in obtaining the requested information, as outlined above, I cannot think of a way in which this could be achieved.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12 – Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

(1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

Please contact me if you would like to discuss the withheld information.

Yours sincerely

Abigail Standidge
