Dear XXXXXX,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 20th March 2022 concerning Seizures of Anabolic Steroids.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

You wrote:

How many seizures of anabolic steroids your force made in the following calendar years (if your force records financial years rather than calendar please provide the data for this).

2019, 2020, 2021 and 2022 to date 01/03/22.

Our response:

The information that you are requesting is not stored in a way which permits easy retrieval.

Whilst our crime recording systems are quite sophisticated, we do not have any specific fields in our system(s) where we record details of any items that may have been seized in relation to any crime or incidents and against which we could then run automated searches against to access the information you require.

Items held in our property stores are all recorded on manual records rather than a computerised system and historically these have proved inaccurate to use due to either mis-recording or non-recording of information correctly by individuals and information contained therein cannot be trusted, certainly in terms of providing information into the public domain as this response would be.

INVESTOR IN PEOPLE

The only other realistic way of obtaining this information accurately would be to access and read each and every crime and incident log on our system(s) for the time period you require, in order to see if a seizure of anabolic steroids was recorded in the narrative of the incident.

Given that Wiltshire Police typically record something in the region of c40,000 crimes alone in any given calendar year, under the circumstances I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it.

Ordinarily under our section 16 duty to provide advice and assistance, we would advise you how to refine your request to a more manageable level. However, due to the difficulties outlined above, I cannot see how this can be achieved in this particular case.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12: Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

- (1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely,

Nick Penny
