Dear,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 16th September 2021 concerning far right extremism offences.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

You wrote:

1 a) How many individuals under the age of 18 have been arrested for offences related to far right extremism in the last calendar year?

1 b) Please give the ages of the individuals arrested

2 a) How many individuals under the age of 18 have been charged with offences related to far right extremism in the last calendar year?

2 b) Please give the ages of the individuals charged

3 Please give comparable data for requests 1 and 2 above for the last 10 calendar years.

Our response:

The information that you are requesting for the majority of your request is not stored in a way which permits easy retrieval.

In order for us to locate and retrieve all of the information requested relating to far right extremism offences, this would require a manual perusal of all terrorism related offences over the past 10 years, as requested. This is because we would firstly have to find the relevant occurrences where the suspect(s) is under the age of 18, and then after this would have to physically go into each crime report and/or custody record to find out whether the individual(s) was arrested and/or charged for offences relating to far right extremism. We would have to physically interrogate these records because there is no easier way for us to search for this information accurately. As a result, furnishing you with your request would take us well over the allocated time frame we have to complete your request within.

INVESTOR IN PEOPLE

Under the circumstances I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it.

Ordinarily under our section 16 duty to provide advice and assistance, we would advise you how to refine your request to a more manageable level. In order to do so, I would suggest that you clarify what is meant by 'far right extremism offences', as this can cover many criminal offences such as hate crime, terrorism, domestic extremism, etc.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12: Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

- (1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely,

Kay Moore
