Dear,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 11th October 2021 concerning incidences of 'drink spiking'.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

I'm getting in contact to request some information in regards to incidents of spiking that have been reported to you. Under the Freedom Of Information act I'd like to request the following:

Broken down by year, for each of the past four years (2018, 2019, 2020, 2021 (up until today, 11/10))

- a) The number of incidents of spiking reported to you
- b) The number of these spiking reports investigated by you
- c) The outcomes of these investigations

(Note: If you can't answer part c of my request without tipping the request over the time/cost limits then please only send parts a and b, which are my priority.)

Our response:

The information that you are requesting for the majority of your request is not stored in a way which permits easy retrieval.

In order for us to obtain the information requested regarding incidences of 'drink spiking', this would require us to carry out a manual perusal of all reports that have been made for the years requested. This is because there is no specific offence that is directly related to 'drink spiking' alone that can be easily searched on. For example, the offence 'Administering a substance with intent (S61, SOA 2003)' would be presumably the most likely offence you would think 'drink spiking' would fall under, however, dependent on the incident reported, an allegation of 'drink spiking' may fall under a different offence. As a result, in order to obtain the information requested accurately this would take us well over the allocated time frame we have to complete your request within and is therefore, exempt from disclosure.

Under the circumstances I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it.

Ordinarily under our section 16 duty to provide advice and assistance, we would advise you how to refine your request to a more manageable level. However, due to the difficulties outlined above, I cannot see how this can be achieved in this particular case.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12: Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

- (1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely,

Kay Moore
