Dear,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 1st August 2022 concerning fraud cases involving cryptocurrency.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

You wrote:

For each of the calendar years 2020, 2021, and 2022 (to date):

- 1) How many reported cases of fraud in which cryptocurrency was a feature have been passed to you from Action Fraud / NFIB?
- 2) How many cases of fraud in which cryptocurrency was a feature have been reported to you directly from victims?
- 3) How many of these cases were investigated by an officer or member of staff?
- 4) How many of these cases led to the arrest or prosecution of a suspect?
- 5) What was the average value of loss, in GBP, reported by victims in these cases?
- 6) What was the range of values of loss, in GBP, reported by victims in these cases?
- 7) How many of these cases led to the recovery of money/cryptocurrency lost by victims?

Our response:

The information that you are requesting for the majority of your request is not stored in a way which permits easy retrieval. This is because in order for us establish how many cases of fraud were passed to us by Action Fraud / NFIB, this would involve us having to manually peruse each fraud related report received over the time frame requested. Not only this, but the same would apply for obtaining the number of fraud related reports that specifically involve cryptocurrency as well as the average value in loss reported by the victims, as this is all information that is likely to be contained within the body of the crime report of which we would need to physically read in order to ascertain the information you require. As a result of the information requested taking us well over the allocated time frame we have to complete your request within, it is therefore, exempt from disclosure.

Under the circumstances I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it.

Please note, that if one part of the request engages a Section 12 response, the whole request will engage a Section 12 response. The reason being is due to the fact that locating, retrieving and extracting any further information would only add to the already exceeded time obligations.

Ordinarily under our Section 16 duty to provide advice and assistance, we would advise you how to refine your request to a more manageable level. However, due to the difficulties outlined above, I cannot see how this can be achieved in this particular case.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12: Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

- (1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with Section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely,

Kay Moore
