Dear ****,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 22nd September 2022 concerning calls to premium rate numbers.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

You wrote:

- cost of calls/text messages/internet downloads charged at premium rate from police phones over the past five financial years
- please break this down year-by-year

ie. not standard calls to landlines/mobile phones

- Please supply details of numbers called/texted/websites accessed
- Please provide the rank of officers accessing this material

Our response:

The information that you are requesting for the majority of your request is not stored in a way which permits easy retrieval.

We currently do not have the capability within our systems to flag for details on the numbers called/texted/websites accessed which can then be analysed quickly and easily. The ascertaining of this information would only be possible by physically reading through thousands pages of billing data to determine the numbers called/text. With regards to determining the websites accessed, it isn't information that is accessible via the Vodafone website.

INVESTOR IN PEOPLE

The same applies for the rank of officers accessing this material, in order to determine this data we would have to manually assess the billing data, identify the owner of the phone number then identify whether they were an officer and at what rank they were at when the content/premium content was used.

Under the circumstances I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it.

Although excess cost removes the forces' obligations under the Freedom of Information Act, as a gesture of goodwill I have supplied information, relative to your request, retrieved or available before it was realised that the fees limit would be exceeded. I trust this is helpful, but it does not affect our legal right to rely on the fees regulations for the remainder of your request. What I am able to provide you are the answers documented below: -

1- cost of calls/text messages/internet downloads charged at premium rate from police phones over the past five financial years

We don't record all of the information requested. We are able to run various Vodafone reports on usage however this is limited to the last 12 months billed.

Below Usage charges for costs outside the data bundle for our sims (mobiles/laptops) for the last 12 months. £2,078.23 total, average £173 month.

Usage Charges:

Ordinarily under our section 16 duty to provide advice and assistance, we would advise you how to refine your request to a more manageable level. However, due to the difficulties outlined above, I cannot see how this can be achieved in this particular case.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12: Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

- (1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely,

Disclosure Decision Maker

Wiltshire Police offers a re-examination of your case under its review procedure.
