Our Ref FOI 2023-065

Dear XXXXX,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 13th January 2023, concerning arranged and forced marriages.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Following receipt of your request, research was conducted by the Business Intelligence department at Wiltshire Police.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am able to respond as follows.

You wrote:

How many arrange marriage and force marriage incidents you attended since 2019 to date by gender and where possible the outcome.

If the results could be provided by year that would be helpful.

Our response:

Under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA), this request is exempt by virtue of the following exemption:

Section 40(2) - Personal data

Section 40 is an absolute exemption and therefore there is no requirement to articulate the harm or conduct a Public Interest test.

Information which constitutes personal data is exempt under Section 40(2) of the FOIA if it relates to a third party, and the disclosure to the public would contravene the data protection principles set out in Section 34 of the Data Protection Act 2018 and Article 5 of the GDPR. In this circumstance:-

Proud to serve and protect our communities

- Victims of these types of crimes are extremely vulnerable and the figures are very low. To provide you with the requested information would increase their risk of being identified and would therefore be providing information relating to other individuals, and thus would be exempt by virtue of Section 40 (Personal Data).

To note, where an individual is requesting third party personal data, Wiltshire Police must ensure that any action taken adheres to the principles of the DPA 2018 and the GDPR. To clarify, the FOIA only allows disclosure of personal data if that disclosure would be compliant with the principles for processing personal data. These principles are outlined under Section 34 of the DPA 2018 and under Article 5 of the GDPR.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Constabulary, when refusing to provide information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

Exemptions applied:

Section 40(2) – Personal Information

In accordance with Section 17 of the Act, this letter acts as a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely,

Abigail Standidge
