Our ref FOI 2023/357

Dear ***,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 26th March 2023 concerning items/evidence that have gone missing.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Following receipt of your request, research was conducted by the Justice Assets Supervisor at Wiltshire Police.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

You wrote:

1) A list of items/evidence that have gone missing from police buildings in the force in the following years: 2020, 2021 and 2022.

Please could you also give a description of the item/evidence involved.

2) If evidence, please give the nature of the offence that it was being investigated for, when seized.

Response:

The information that you are requesting is not stored in a way which permits easy retrieval. We currently do not have the capability within our systems to flag information on missing items or evidence which can then be analysed quickly and easily.

There isn't a category within our record management system to record lost items. Therefore, the only possible way of ascertaining this information would be to manually look at every piece of property recorded as being held with us and determine if it is still there, that's nearly 100,000 items. Even then this is only the items under our Justice Assets custodianship, other Proud to serve and protect our communities departments such as CSI, MICT etc. and items located in all the temp stores that aren't under their control until they book them in, would not be included.

It is only when an item of property is requested or reviewed to be disposed of that we would discover it is not in the last known location and would be marked Not located or dispose of when located, again this is not a searchable criteria.

Under the circumstances I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it.

Ordinarily under our section 16 duty to provide advice and assistance, we would advise you how to refine your request to a more manageable level. However, due to the difficulties outlined above, I cannot see how this can be achieved in this particular case.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12: Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

(1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely

Force Disclosure Decision Maker

Wiltshire Police offers a re-examination of your case under its review procedure.
