Our Ref FOI 2023-1000

Dear XXXXX,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 16th October 2023, concerning Officers committing shoplifting offences.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Following receipt of your request, research was conducted by the Professional Standards Department at Wiltshire Police. Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

You wrote:

1. Please state how many of your serving officers have got a (i) conviction or (ii) a caution for the offence of shoplifting?
2. For each individual please state (i) if the offence was finalised by way of a conviction or caution, (ii) was the offence picked up as a pre-employment check or was it carried out after the individual was employed as a police officer, and (iii) the year the offence was committed.
3. If possible where there was a shoplifting offence please state the value of the theft and the shop where the offence was committed?

NOTE: If you cannot answer Q.3 or to attempt to answer it would cause the cost of dealing this request to become so great that the request could be refused, then please ignore Q.3 and just answer Q.1 and Q.2

Our response:

Section 1 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA) places two duties on public authorities. Unless exemptions apply, the first duty at s1(1)(a) is to confirm or deny whether the information specified in a request is held. The second duty at s1(1)(b) is to disclose information that has been confirmed as being held.

Keeping Wiltshire Safe

Whilst I can confirm Wiltshire Police do hold the requested information, section 12(1) of the FOIA states:-

Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

The information you are requesting is not stored in a way which permits for easy retrieval. Wiltshire Police do not hold a list of Officers that have had a prior conviction. New joiners to the Force are vetted and this includes a check of the Police National Computer / Database, where any arrests / prosecutions etc would be identified. This is reviewed at set periods, which would identify any subsequent arrests / convictions / speeding offences etc. If Officers fail to inform the Force of any subsequent arrests etc, they would be subject to a misconduct investigation. Any prior arrests / prosecutions etc will be referred to within the Vetting report for the Officer. If a serving Officer becomes the offender in a criminal investigation, in most cases, there would be a parallel misconduct investigation which would hold the details of the matter. To provide a response to this request would require manually reviewing and extracting information from each personnel record for every Officer within the Force.

Under the circumstances I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it. Therefore the whole of the request should fall under the exemption of section 12 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000.

Please also note that if one part of the request engages a Section 12 response, the whole request will engage a Section 12 response. The reason being is due to the fact that locating, retrieving and extracting any further information would only add to the already exceeded time obligations.

Ordinarily under our Section 16 obligation to provide advice and assistance we would advise you of a way to refine your request to a more manageable level. Due to the difficulties in obtaining the requested information, as outlined above, I cannot think of a way in which this could be achieved.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12 - Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

(1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

Please contact me if you would like to discuss the withheld information.

Yours sincerely,

Abigail Standidge
