Ref: FOI 2024/427

Dear,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 18th April 2024 concerning online harassment and cyber bullying.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

You wrote:

1. The number of incidences of online harassment reported in the 2023, 2022, and 2021 calendar years.
2. The number of incidences of cyberbullying reported in the 2023, 2022, and 2021 calendar years.

Our response:

The information that you are requesting for part of your request (namely question 2) is not stored in a way which permits easy retrieval. This is because there is no crime sub-group for cyber bullying on our systems that we can easily search on in order to locate the number of these reports in particular. Currently, in order to ascertain the number of cyber bullying reports there have been between 2021-2023, we would need to read through 2,191 crimes and incidents in order to establish which report relates to an incidence of cyber bullying.

Under the circumstances I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it.

Please note, that if one part of the request engages a Section 12 response, the whole request will engage a Section 12 response. The reason being is due to the fact that locating, retrieving and extracting any further information would only add to the already exceeded time obligations.

Although excess cost removes the forces' obligations under the Freedom of Information Act, as a gesture of goodwill I have supplied information, relative to your request, retrieved or available before it was realised that the fees limit would be exceeded. I trust this is helpful, but it does not affect our legal right to rely on the fees regulations for the remainder of your request. What I am able to provide you are the answers documented below –

- The number of incidences of online harassment reported in the 2023, 2022, and 2021 calendar years.

Reported Year	Crimes	Non-Crime Incidents
Totals	2191	325
2021	691	92
2022	739	105
2023	761	128

Caveats:

Please note, that the above figures were obtained via searching for all harassment offences and using the "cyber-enabled" local qualifier.

Ordinarily under our Section 16 duty to provide advice and assistance, we would advise you how to refine your request in respect of question 2 to a more manageable level and in order to do so, it might be worth defining what you mean by cyber bullying a bit further as this may assist our Business Intelligence team to be able to try and extract the information another way.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12 – Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

- (1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with Section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Proud to serve and protect our communities

Yours sincerely,

Force Disclosure Decision Maker
