Dear,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 2nd September 2024 concerning crimes involving NHS employees.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

This is a request under the Freedom of Information Act with stated timeline January 1, 2019 until the day this request is fulfilled.

Our response:

The information that you are requesting for the majority of your request is not stored in a way which permits easy retrieval. This is because there is no tag or field for "occupations" that we can search on that would enable us to gather the information you require in a quicker and reliable manner. As a result, the only way in which we would be able to ascertain whether an NHS employee has been accused or arrested for the offences you mentioned above as well as crimes involving the use of an NHS Ambulance; would be to manually search through all of the reports that fall under the crimes you previously mentioned in order to determine whether or not we hold this information. As you have requested for this information from 2019-present, this would involve us having to physically peruse through all reports that fall under the related offences over the time frame requested – which, as you can imagine, this figure would be in the thousands and would therefore, by far exceed the time in which we have to furnish your request within.

Therefore, under the circumstances, I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it.

Please note, that if one part of the request engages a Section 12 response, the whole request will engage a Section 12 response. The reason being is due to the fact that locating, retrieving and extracting any further information would only add to the already exceeded time obligations.

Ordinarily under our Section 16 duty to provide advice and assistance, we would advise you how to refine your request to a more manageable level. However, due to the difficulties outlined above, I cannot see how this can be achieved in this particular case. In terms of question 4, you are more than welcome to re-submit this question again to us separately, but, please bear in mind that further exemptions may still apply.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12(2) – Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

In accordance with Section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.
