Dear,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 14th April concerning Operation Encompass.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am able to respond as follows.

You wrote:

Please could you provide me with the following under the freedom of information act:

1. The number of times your force has contacted a school following an incident of domestic abuse, as per Operation Encompass, since the act became statutory on 24 May 2024.
2. How long it took for the school to be contacted after each of these domestic abuse incidents were attended by police.

Response:

The information that you are requesting for the majority of your request is not stored in a way which permits easy retrieval.

We do not record the date the notification to the school in a system that is easily searchable. To obtain this information would require manually searching each record to obtain the data.

We send approx. 400 Op Encompass notifications to schools per month. This would provide a very rough figure of approx. 4000 disclosures over the last 10 months since Encompass notifications became statutory.

Under the circumstances I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it.

Ordinarily under our Section 16 duty to provide advice and assistance, we would advise you how to refine your request to a more manageable level. However, due to the difficulties outlined above, I cannot see how this can be achieved in this particular case.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12: Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

(1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with Section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely

Force Disclosure Decision Maker
