Dear XXXX,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 15th May 2025 regarding Record of Professional Standards (RPRP).

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Following receipt of your request, research was conducted by the Professional Standards department at Wiltshire Police.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am able to respond as follows.

You wrote:

I would like to request anonymised examples of Record of Professional Standards (RPRP) outcomes or cases handled by the Wiltshire Police Professional Standards Department concerning discreditable conduct, dishonesty, or breaches of integrity.

Our response:

No information held - We would not RPRP for these breaches as they would be Misconduct matters and dealt with as such.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely
