Dear

I write in connection with your request for information dated 25/06/25 concerning Stalking and Coercive Control involving GPS trackers.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Following receipt of your request, research was conducted by the department of Wiltshire Police.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

You wrote:

How many stalking and coercive control cases involving GPS trackers (such as AirTags) were reported to Wiltshire Police in these years?

- 2023

- 2024

- 2025 (to May 31)

Response:

The information that you are requesting is not stored in a way which allows for easy retrieval and Wiltshire Police does not have the search facility to automatically gather this data. To clarify, our Business Intelligence department have confirmed there is no way of ascertaining if a tracker was used in any occurrence without reading each in detail. Business Intelligence have advised they allow 5 minutes to read an occurrence so there needs to be few enough to read them all within an 18 hour timeframe which this request exceeds (4000+ occurrences so reading these would take 178 hours).

However, if you resubmit a request under our Section 16, our obligation to provide advice and assistance, we can review the request and try to assist you further.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12: Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

(1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed on to me, and been considered in the light of your request, within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely

Force Disclosure Decision Maker

Wiltshire Police offers a re-examination of your case under its review procedure.
