Dear XXXXXX,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 16th July 2025 concerning Dangerous Dogs.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

Our response:

The information that you are requesting for questions 3, 3.1 and 3.2 is not stored in a way which currently permits easy retrieval.

Whilst our crime recording systems are fairly sophisticated and contain a number of designated fields in which certain specifics about a crime or incident are recorded (and can then be searched upon), the system is cumbersome and time consuming to use. As a consequence our IT developers have created a series of specific App's (applications) which extract pertinent data from our main crime recording system which is if use to each of our relevant business areas.

Whilst a number of your questions can be answered simply from the data held within the Dog Team App, the information required in those 3 specific questions is not readily available currently.

The ascertaining of this information would only be possible by physically locating and reviewing each specific crime that has been recorded on our systems under the relevant Home Office Crime Groups covering people being in possession of a dangerous dog etc. The information you require would be contained either in the narrative of the occurrence log, or in supporting documents such as statements and other records attached to it.

For the time period you require, we have recorded well in excess of x,xxx individual crimes related to dangerous dogs and even allowing a very conservative 5 minutes per record to to this, I am absolutely confident that to locate, retrieve and extract the information you seek would by far exceed the time obligations upon this authority to comply, and in so doing would exceed the fees limits. This is set at £450 calculated at a flat rate of £25 per hour for those work activities comprising of confirming the information is held, locating it, retrieving it and extracting it.

Ordinarily if one part of a request engages a Section 12 response, then the whole request will engage a Section 12 response. The reason being is due to the fact that locating, retrieving and extracting any further information would only add to the already exceeded time obligations.

However, although excess cost removes the forces' obligations under the Freedom of Information Act, as a gesture of goodwill I have supplied information, relative to your request, retrieved or available before it was realised that the fees limit would be exceeded. I trust this is helpful, but it does not affect our legal right to rely on the fees regulations for the remainder of your request. What I am able to provide you are the answers documented below :-

Ordinarily under our section 16 duty to provide advice and assistance, we would advise you how to refine your request in respect of questions 3, 3.1 and 3.2 to a more manageable level. However, due to the difficulties outlined above, I cannot see how this can be achieved in this particular case.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12: Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

- (1) Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely,

Nick Penny
