Dear XXXXXX,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 20th November 2025 concerning DPIA's.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

Please accept this request under the Freedom of Information Act.

Wiltshire Police recently disclosed a list of Data Protection Impact Assessments produced by the force (FOI ref 2025/785). I'm seeking copies of the following DPIAs:

1. DPIA for LEDS Drivers dated 29th November 2022
2. DPIA for NIAMS dated 10th February 2023
3. DPIA for APSP dated 24th March 2023
4. DPIA for LEDS dated 13th March 2024
5. DPIA for Retrospective facial recognition dated 28th June 2024
6. DPIA for PADDS (Police Authorised Data Downloads) dated 10th April 2025
7. DPIA for Drones (2025 review/update) dated 7th August 2025

Our response:

Please find attached copies of the requested DPIA's – these have been redacted as necessary (see notes below).

Note

Certain sections of the Drones DPIA have been exempted from disclosure under Section 31(1) – Law Enforcement :-

Section 31(1) is a prejudice based and qualified exemption, therefore the harm (prejudice) in disclosure should be evidenced and the public interest given.

Overall Harm

Although every effort should be made to release information under the Freedom of Information Act, to disclose specific details regarding the IT specification, limitations and use related to the Drone Team could provide those individuals that are so inclined with key information that would be useful to them should they wish to attempt to hack our systems – which as a consequence could compromise our ability to provide the public with the policing service they expect. In addition, providing specific tactical details around the certain instances when & why Drones might be deployed could also prejudice future law enforcement tactics and our ability to effectively and efficiently prevent and detect crime and bring offenders to justice. Although there is public interest in the transparency of policing, this is countered by the need to protect any future law enforcement conducted by Wiltshire Police. Furthermore, there is a very strong public interest in safeguarding the integrity of police law enforcement and the ability to police effectively and safely. This, in-turn, would reassure the public that the police are highly secure and would not disclose any information to the world, not just the requester, which may jeopardise law enforcement.

Public Interest Considerations

Factors Favouring Disclosure

The disclosure of this information would lead to a better-informed public and promote trust by demonstrating openness, transparency and accountability. In addition, the public are entitled to know how public funds are being spent.

Factors Against Disclosure

Any disclosure made under the Freedom of Information process is effectively a disclosure to everyone in the public domain.

By highlighting the specific operational information related to our Drone software / IT system could provide potential hackers to those system(s) with key information that would assist them.

Providing full details of ALL instances where the use of drones might be deployed could also affect our ability and effectiveness to undertake our requisite policing activity which could also - in certain circumstances – compromise our ability to safeguard members of the public.

Both would place our ability to enforce the law effectively into jeopardy and by providing such detailed and specific information it could also lead to an increase in such crimes being committed and aid criminals in regards to the scaling their activities accordingly in line with current Force capacity.

In turn, this would potentially undermine our ability to enforce the law effectively and also lead to a degradation in public confidence of the Force.

Furthermore, disclosing this information into the public domain would highlight that Wiltshire Police does not take the security and integrity of law enforcement seriously, which would cause a large drop in confidence.

Balance Test

The above points highlight both the merits and issues with disclosing in full the complete DPIA for Drones you have requested.

Overall the police service is charged with enforcing the law, preventing and detecting crime and protecting the communities we serve. Because of this, Wiltshire Police will not divulge any information if to do so would prejudice our law enforcement or operational capabilities and in turn lead to more victims of crime and offenders not being brought to justice. The public interest is very largely in favour of non-disclosure in full to ensure the capability of law enforcement of Wiltshire Police.

This would only be overridden in exceptional circumstances, which this Freedom of Information request is not.

Information regarding the names of individuals involved in the writing, review or control of these DPIA's is exempt from disclosure under the following :-

- Section 40 Personal Information

Section 40 is an absolute exemption and there is no requirement to articulate the harm or conduct a Public Interest test.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemptions applicable to the information requested are:

- Section 31(1) – Law Enforcement
- Section 40: Personal Information

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely,

Nick Penny
