Reply contact name is:

Dear,

I write in connection with your request for information, dated 21st January 2026 concerning 999 calls.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Following receipt of your request, research was conducted by the Contact Centre of Wiltshire Police.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

You Wrote:

Please provide:

- The time in which the force is expected to respond to 999 calls.
- The number of 999 calls received by the force in each year from 2020 to 2025.
- The number of occasions on which no police car was available to answer a 999 call in each year from 2020 to 2025.

Response:

The information that you are requesting for Question Three is not stored in a way which allows for easy retrieval and Wiltshire Police does not have the search facility to automatically gather this data. To clarify, our Contact Centre have confirmed that to ascertain this information for the requested time period would require manually searching and reading each and every report individually to determine whether a police car was available. This would be over 600,000 reports and would exceed the 18 hour work limit to locate, retrieve and extract the data, therefore Section 12 applies.

Keeping Wiltshire Safe

However, under our Section 16 obligation to provide advice and assistance, I would advise that you could resubmit your request without this Question, however please note that other exemption(s) may be applicable.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12: Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit

Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me, and been considered in the light of your request, within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours Sincerely,

Wiltshire Police offers a re-examination of your case under its review procedure.
