Dear,

I write in connection with your request for information, dated 6th February 2026 concerning police footage.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Following receipt of your request, research was conducted by the Policy Officer and the Corporate Communications and Engagement Department of Wiltshire Police.

Your request for information has now been considered and I am not obliged to supply the information you have requested.

You Wrote:

A copy of your force's policy(ies) regarding the release of video or audio footage (including bodycam footage, CCTV, and other recordings) to external organisations, particularly those that may use the footage for commercial gain.

Details of instances where your force has released or sold such footage to external organisations, including:

- The type of organisation (e.g., media, entertainment, commercial)
- The purpose of the release (e.g., broadcasting, advertising)
- The nature of the footage released

Please provide any relevant documents, reports, or records related to these requests. I add that with regards to the historic instance, as mentioned above, it would only seem relevant in relation to my questions, to cover the last ten years.

Response:

The information that you are requesting (instances where we have released footage) is not stored in a way which allows for easy retrieval and Wiltshire Police does not have the search facility to automatically gather this data. To clarify, our Corporate Communications and Engagement Department have confirmed that due to the timeframe, the information would span at least three different media databases that have been used. Because of this, to ascertain this information for the requested time period would require a number of manual trawls (which may not even be entirely accurate). They have stated that this would exceed the 18 hour work limit to locate, retrieve and extract the data, engaging Section 12.

However, under our Section 16 obligation to provide advice and assistance, I would advise that you could resubmit your request without this question, however please note that other exemption(s) may be applicable.

Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Wiltshire Police, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which: (a) states that fact, (b) specifies the exemption in question and (c) states (if that would not otherwise be apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption applicable to the information requested is:

Section 12: Exemption where cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit
Section 1(1) does not oblige a public authority to comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.

In accordance with section 17 of the Act, this letter represents a Refusal Notice for this particular request.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed to me, and been considered in the light of your request, within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours Sincerely,

Wiltshire Police offers a re-examination of your case under its review procedure.
