Dear xxx,

I write in connection with your request for information dated 16/10/26 concerning speeding offences.

I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to handle all requests in a manner that is blind as to the identity and motives of the requestor. Any information released as a response to a request is regarded as being published and therefore in the public domain without caveat.

Your request for information has now been considered, and I am able to respond as follows.

You wrote:

c. If you're unable to break down by hours of the day, please provide for day time / night time offences, e.g. 7pm - 7am, 7am - 7pm d.

If any part of this request would exceed the appropriate cost limit under section 12 of the Act, I would be grateful if you could contact me to discuss how it might be narrowed, rather than refusing it outright.

I would prefer to receive the information as: spreadsheet/CSV where the information is structured data.

Response:

Speeding offences recorded:

2023 – 10,296

2024 – 13,577

2025 – 19,410

2026 to date – 11,689

Please note: this data is likely to contain duplicates. This is because a speeding offence can be recorded in Pentip (ticket processing system) and then if not complied with, it can ALSO be processed in Niche. The way the data is exported means the force cannot identify duplicates.

Also, the data from 2026 is not complete, firstly because the year has not ended but secondly, because the force has up to 6 months to prosecute speeding offences so the 2026 data will only be known in full at the end of June 2027. The force cannot break the data down into age or gender as there is no searchable field for this within Niche/Pentip.

The force can break the Niche data down into months of offence however most data come from Pentip, which cannot be broken down into months of offence. Similarly, we cannot break the data down into time of day.

I am satisfied that all the relevant information has been passed on to me and been considered in the light of your request within the time constraints applicable under the legislation.

Wiltshire Police would like to thank you for the interest that you have shown in the Force.

Yours sincerely

Force Disclosure Decision Maker
